

How to use the Summary List of Courses

Note: This list was correct when collated. Students must be aware that there is no guarantee that all courses shown will be available in the Spring.

Timetable Information

Students are responsible for looking up each class they find on this list to find what time and day it is running, in order to create a schedule in which there are no clashes. You should not simply write down 4 classes you have found on this list without looking them up.

To look up a class please click the blue hyperlink at the top of the relevant section

E.g. Certificate Level Modules for Accounting, you would click here

Then click on the link for the module code you are interested in.

Once opened, the following module information will be outlined (as in the example, below):

Teaching Location; it is generally easier to choose modules at the same campus

Teaching Semester; make sure the module is taught during the semester for which you are applying

Timeslot; make sure you do not have two or more modules running at the same time. Click on the hyperlinks 'city campus' and 'north campus' to see the timeslot.

Module Summary; check that the material to be covered is interesting / appropriate to you, and find information about methods of assessment.

Times

AM (morning) classes are normally taught between 9.00 am and 12:00 pm

PM (afternoon) classes are normally taught between 1:00 pm and 5.00 pm

PM+ (evening) classes are normally taught between 6:00 pm and 9:00 pm

Module Levels and Prerequisites

There are three teaching levels, Certificate, Intermediate and Honours, which broadly correspond to the first, second and third year of study.

Consequently, some Intermediate and Honours level modules may only be taken if the student has already completed lower level modules on a related topic – these modules are known as prerequisites. When a prerequisite is listed you should make sure that you have studied a corresponding course at your home campus and therefore will have enough subject knowledge to approach the new material.

Teaching Location	City and North
Teaching Semester	Autumn

Module codes

The module code consists of 3 parts: The department initials, the number code, and the N or C to indicate whether the module is being taught at North campus or City campus. For example: MK*1001*N

Where the module is highlighted in purple on this list and has no campus designation e.g. AC1002 Accounting, the module is being taught separately at both campuses and you can choose at which campus you would prefer to take your module – either North or City (not both!). When filling in your module registration form, you must indicate where you want to take your chosen module. The choice could depend on which best fits your schedule, or which campus you prefer.

Module Registration Form

You must choose four modules (a total of 12 US credits or 30 ECTS). Use the Module (Course) Registration form supplied and return the completed form to the International Programmes Office, Stapleton House, London Metropolitan University, 236-250 Holloway Road, London N7 8DB by the 1st December 2008. You may fax it to: +44 207 133 3913. If you are not able to complete your module registration form by this date please contact the Study Abroad Team at studyabroad@londonmet.ac.uk

Please note that not all of the modules listed in the Online Module Catalogue will be available this semester and your Intended Study Programme is subject to change. It is important to list approved alternatives in case of schedule changes.

Practical Social Work and Video Editing modules are not open to Study Abroad students, and practical art classes are only open to full time art students unless a portfolio is submitted and approved. Please visit our Module Registration Website for more information about special or restricted courses

Computing and Mathematics

Please note that Computing and Mathematics modules will mostly demand that you stay for the exam period. Please be aware of this when making your choice. If this is a problem please contact us in advance and we will be able to confirm whether you can still take the class. You will also need to be very thorough in checking prerequisites as there is a lot of technical knowledge involved.

PERFORMING ARTS

Performing Arts modules are restricted to students with a performing arts major. You will need to meet with the course leader at the beginning of term to determine exactly which modules are most appropriate for you, according to your previous experience. However, we have had very successful placements in this area so do not be discouraged!

Sir John Cass Department of Art, Media and Design

In order to register for art classes you must be an art major at your home University. There are a limited number of spaces in each art class and so we cannot guarantee places. You may have to supply a portfolio of work for assessment by an academic, prior to obtaining a place in the class. You should also select non-art classes as a back-up, and get these signed off by your academic advisor / tutor.

DESIGN

Please note Design (DE) modules are for specialists only and have a strong studio ethos. Students interested in registering for these modules must be Design Majors and should be able to submit an electronic portfolio of their work upon request.

Health and Human Sciences

There are a number of courses offered by the Department of Health and Human Sciences under the subject groupings of Biomedical Sciences, Microbiological Sciences, Nutrition and Food Sciences and Sport Science. These modules are open to students whose major involves one or all of the above areas. Should you be interested in taking an HHS course then your application would have to be submitted to the department for approval and certain prerequisites would have to be fulfilled.
